

Table of Contents

Section I

---

|   |           |
|---|-----------|
| Introduction   | 1  |
| Ch 1 “You’re Not a Speaker... You’re My Husband!”    | 5  |
| Ch 2 Why Start a Speaking Business?                  | 8  |
| Ch 3 Getting Started and Finding Your Unique Message | 11 |
| Ch 4 Explore Your Message to Become an Expert        | 19 |
| Ch 5 Your Speech is Your Foundation                  | 24 |
| Ch 6 Honing Your Skills                              | 28 |
| Ch 7 Setting Up Your Portable Office                 | 34 |
| The Business Card   |           |
| Selecting Your Business Card Information                    |           |
| Phone Numbers   |           |
| The Business Card   |           |
| Voicemail   |           |
| Returning Phone Calls and Email Messages                    |           |

SECTION II

---

|  |           |
|--|-----------|
| Ch 8 Getting Your Content Online    | 41 |
| Websites                                   |           |
| Domain Names                               |           |
| Getting Found on the Web                   |           |
| Publishing a Blog                          |           |
| Facebook                                   |           |
| Linking Up With Other Professionals        |           |
| Writing Articles to Build Your Content     |           |
| Using Podcasts to Expand Your Reach        |           |
| Ch 9 Speak for Free and Get Noticed | 55 |
| Toastmasters International                 |           |
| Civic Organizations                        |           |
| Professional Associations                  |           |
| Getting Press About Your Talk              |           |
| How to Write a Press Release               |           |

|   |            |
|---|------------|
| Who to Send it To   |            |
| The Thank You Card  |            |
| The Referral Letter   |            |
| Ch 10 Getting Noticed in Print and on the Radio        | 66  |
| Opportunities with Talk Radio                                 |            |
| Ch 11 Getting on Television                            | 70  |
| How to Become the 'Go To' Person TV Producers will call       |            |
| Using Community Access TV to Increase your influence          |            |
| Ch 12 A Chance to Get Paid Conducting Public Seminars  | 75  |
| Ch 13 A Chance to Get Paid by Professional Conferences | 82  |
| How Conferences Find Speakers                                 |            |
| Tips for Being a Welcome Addition to Every Conference         |            |
| Ch 14 Building Your Marketing/Press Kit                | 89  |
| Marketing/Press Kit Inventory                                 |            |
| The Speaker's One-Sheet                                       |            |
| The CV  |            |
| Letters of Recommendation                                     |            |
| Newspaper, Journal or Magazine Articles Written About You     |            |
| Newspaper, Journal or Magazine Articles Written by You        |            |
| Professionally Designed Brochure on You and Your Programs     |            |
| Sample Product  |            |
| Past Event Performance Evaluations                            |            |
| Past Customer Comments  |            |
| Your Sample Presentation Proposal                             |            |
| Professional Headshot or Photograph                           |            |
| Putting it All Together                                       |            |
| Ch 15 When the Calls Start Coming in                   | 99  |
| Being Ready to Talk About What You Have to Offer              |            |
| The Proposal  |            |
| What to Charge Your Clients                                   |            |
| Ch 16 Getting Commitment with a Speaker's Agreement    | 103 |
| SECTION III  |            |
| <hr/>   |            |
| Ch 17 The Conference                                   | 107 |
| Ch 18 Winning Over Your Audience                       | 109 |
| Sharing; Making Allies, not Enemies, in Your Workshop         |            |
| Respect for Your Audience                                     |            |
| Role Playing  |            |

|  |            |
|--|------------|
| Learning Styles  |            |
| Visual Learners  |            |
| Auditory Learners  |            |
| Audiences Appreciate Your Efforts                          |            |
| Ch 19 Teaching Methods Your Audience Will Enjoy     | 115 |
| Case Studies   |            |
| Storytelling and Anecdotes                                 |            |
| Breakout Exercises   |            |
| Handouts   |            |
| Questions  |            |
| Surprises  |            |
| A Memorable Workshop                                       |            |
| Ch 20 The Keynote                                   | 121 |
| How to Get on the Speaker Search Committees' Radar         |            |
| Marketing Yourself to Those Who Don't Know You             |            |
| Give Them Breakouts  |            |
| What to Charge   |            |
| Working with Speaker's Bureaus                             |            |
| Zero Limits  |            |
| Ch 21 Making Connections                            | 128 |
| Ch 22 Wrapping up the Event                         | 131 |
| SECTION IV  |            |
| <hr/>  |            |
| Ch 23 Writing a Book                                | 134 |
| How I wrote My Book  |            |
| Ch 24 How to Write an eBook Without Typing a Word   | 141 |
| The Cover  |            |
| Content  |            |
| Almost There!  |            |
| Selling Your eBook   |            |
| Ready to Start Writing?                                    |            |
| Ch 25 Selling Audio and Video Products              | 147 |
| Editing Your New Audio Product                             |            |
| Adding Music and Sound Effects to Your Production          |            |
| Getting Your CD Ready for its Debut                        |            |
| Producing and Publishing Videos and DVDs                   |            |
| Different Options for Selling Your Audio Production Online |            |

SECTION V

---

|  |            |
|--|------------|
| Ch 26 Using Humor and Keeping it Original                 | 155 |
| Ch 27 Event Etiquette                                     | 161 |
| Ch 28 Speaker Sponsorship                                 | 166 |
| Ch 29 Professional Tips for Getting Hired Again and Again | 170 |
| Carry Your Written Introduction with You                         |            |
| Carry a Copy of Your Presentation on a Separate USB Drive        |            |
| Don't Let it Go to Your Head                                     |            |
| Don't Sell From the Stage  |            |
| Get Permission or Give Credit Where Credit is Due                |            |
| The Thank You Note   |            |
| Bits and Pieces  |            |
| Afterword   | 180 |
| Appendix  | 184 |
| Speaker's Agreement                                       |            |
| Speaker's Evaluation – Formal                             |            |
| Speaker's Evaluation – In-formal                          |            |
| References  |            |